

Lynn, and her husband Reggie, moved to the Providence neighborhood from Vermont in 2020. She also lived in North and South Carolina. Lynn was a math teacher in her former life. She has been playing golf for over 20 years, has had one hole-in-one, and beat her PGA Pro husband once. In addition to serving on the CHLGA board, she also plays in the Brassies league and enjoys tournaments. When not golfing, Lynn can be found tap dancing, sewing, or bowling. She really has fun making card table forts for kids.